Beveaux - Washington Gossip.

Special Dispatch to The Constitution.

WASHINGTON, May 7 .- To-day Mr. Stephens started to the house feeling unusually well. He was going up the marble steps on the east front, leaning on his stewart Aleck, and on one crutch. The steps were wet and his crutch slipped, letting down his weight on the left leg in a standing attitude. ankle was severely sprained, the knee joint was wrenched painfully. He was borne at once to his room. where he has been attended all afternoon by Dr. Walsh. He suffered very much until a hyperdermic injection of morphine relieved him. It will be renewed to-night. While the injury is not dangerous, it will disable Mr. Stephens a long time, and cause him much pain. Many friends have called to ex press their regrets at the accident.

According to hovil.

The secretary of war has determined to appoint Lieutenant Eli H. Hoyle, of Atlanta, adjutant at West Point military academy. He is now serving in the Second artillery at Washington barracks. He will be the first second lieutenant who ever enjoyed this honor, and during his service at West Point will be the academy. will have a captain's rank and pay. The honor was unsolicited, and was a tribute to Lieutenant Hoyle's fidelity and capacity. The appointment has not been made public, but will be in a few days.

They are consulting on a full slate of new court officers, and Mr. Arthur will implicitly obey their wishes. Charles Johnson, of Griffin, is supposed to be their choice for district attorney. The friends of James Deveaux, colored, now in the treasury department, urge him on the syndicate for the marshalship. Mr. Atkins's appointment as judge may be delayed a few days, but it is assured beyond a doubt. They say that Mr. Atkins has been vigorously studying since Garfield promised him a place on the bench.

THE FEDERAL TREASURY.

A Reassuring Report Calculated to Make the Nation Feel Rich.

Washington, May 9.—Government officials state that the condition of the treasury is reassuring. Secretary Folger estimates that the total receipts for the current fiscal year would have been the receipts which have be $400,000,000. From the receipts which have been made and the estimates for the remain-ing two months of the fiscal year, it appears that the receipts will probably be $405,000,000,

It is curious that the receipts from customs It is curious that the receipts from customs will exceed the estimates by about the amount that the receipts from the internal revenue will fall short of the estimates. The customs estimates for the fiscal year were $215,000,000. The receipts will reach $224,000,000. The internal revenue estimates were $155,000,000. The receipts are likely to be nearly $10,000,000 less than that sum.

THE INCREASED RECEIPTS FROM CUSTOMS is of course due to larger importations, as the government during the fiscal year has not detected any extensive system of frauds. The decreased receipts from internal revenue is decreased receipts from internal revenue is attributed to the agitation in congress with regard to the modification of the laws imposing the whisky tax. The year commenced with great promise as to the returns from in-ternal revenue, but the various causes, notably the agitation as to legislation, have prevented the continuance of these large receipts. While the total receipts are likely to exceed the estimates by about $5,000,000, the very gratifying result will doubtless be witnessed at the end of the year that the ex-penditures have been less than the estimates. Congress did not appropriate last year the full amount of the estimates, and the departments have not expended the full amount of the re-duced appropriations.

THE REDUCTION OF THE PUBLIC DEBT
has caused a decreased expenditure in the interest charge of about $10,000,000. Is is now estimated at the treasury that the gross surplus for the present year will be from $140,000,000 to $145,000,000, which is some $15,000,000 more than the estimates. Making allowances for the sinking fund due the present year, and for the arrears still due on account of former year, it is probable that the actual net surplus for the current fiscal year will be $101,000,000. The corresponding net surplus for the last fiscal year, all sinking fund charges having been deducted from the $100.000,000 of gross surplus, was $59,000,000; so that, in the present opinion of the treasury authorities, the gain in the net surplus revenue of the present fiscal year over the revenue of last year will be $42,000,000.

New York, May 9.—A Times' special from Raleigh, N. C. says that Senators Don Came-ron and Wm. Mahone have decided to invest in real estate and water-power at Weldon, in that state, for the purpose of the erection of works for the building of railroad cars of every description, and for spinning cotton. It is stated that the property of the Roanoke navigation company, which years ago built a canal from Weldon to Gaston, is to be sold very soon, by order of the supreme court, to the highest bidder. ON THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

The Part Borne by the Gentlemen from George Mahone's Fading Figure in Politics—Bob In-gersoll's Court Room Ethios—Raising Funds for the Coming Campaign.

Special Correspondence of The Constitution.

Washington, May 6.—After the long sege in the senate and the tedious debate in the senate and the tedious debate in the senate in the senate and the tedious debate in the senate in the senate and the tedious debate in the senate in senatorial bark to a sink-house, the tariff commission bill has gone through congress. In neither house was in party question, though the low tariff democrats overshadowed their protectionist brethers and fought the bill to the last. As I will bream and fought the bill to the last. As I wrote you some time ago, the Georgia dalegation was solid against it, except Mr. Spear. Mr. Turner made one of the very ablest speeches in opposition to the measure. Coperal Cook expressed his views in a pointed, purcent talk. Mr. Blonnt was known as one course, was lost.

Some of the most perplexing questions asked of the protectionists during the debate were thrown out by Judge Buchanan, from whose sharp inspection the slightest particular in the proceedings does not escape. Mr. Stephens was not present to vote against the bill, as the day was stormy, but he would have done so gladly, as he had no use for appointing a commission to do what the ways have done so gladly, as he had no use for appointing a commission to do what the ways and means committee of the house has every possible facility for doing better and quicker. Mr. Clements did not make an argument in the debate, but he has expressed some clear and forcible views against the bill.

Mr. Speer favored it in a speech of considerable ingenuity, in which he gave the inter-erable ingenuity, in which he gave the internal revenue system some severe blows. He is hitting at what Senator Brown calls." this excrescence on the body politic" whenever he gets a chance, and he is right. The internal revenue department gathers its millions from the people to pour into the already surplus laden treasury. Its purpose is to keep a standing army of republican officials stationed in every art of the country.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

This suggests another strategem of the "party of plunder." It is their method of raising campaign funds by levying a tax on every poor clerk in the departments. They have begun already. The victim receives a circular suggesting his duty to do all he can to support the glorious party under which he to support the glorious party under which he is in position and asking that he will contribute what he can to grease up the can paign machinery. He is informed that he is assessed so much, and it is not healthy for that clerk unless he planks down the money forth-with. A $1,000 clerk has to give $20 to start on, and sometimes they come back for an-other contribution. They squeezed unusually hard in the Garield campaign, and nobody will ever know how much money was poured into Indiana. The republican committee met last night to decide how to spend the thousands of men and women in the heart few days.

They realize the gloomy outlook for the fall, but have gone to work in earnest to make the best of it. The committee is composed mainly of men who know how to pull the wires. I had thought Blaine's bullying tactics be fore the committee on foreign relations would be the only example of the kind we should have soon, but to-day I dropped into the court have soon, but to-day I dropped into the court where the star route prosecutions are in progress and met a disappointment. There stood Bob Ingersoll in all the pomp of his conscious notoriety, the leading counsel for Dorsey late tin god of the republican party, but now accused of guzzling a good deal of government money. Bob has made his fame, not as a lawyer, but as a loud mouthed babler against the Christian religion. Talmage has lowered the pulpit in typing to rostrum, and to-day he had the same style in the court. He appeared to own the entire establishment and patronized even the judge on the bench. After awhile little George Bliss, of New York, said something about Dorsey, the accused, being intentionally kept away, and Bob towered in a fearful passion. He knew Bliss very well, and it required a great courage for him to deal of courage for him to bring his fist down on the table, under the protection of a court, and yell out, "You are a liar." There stood Richard Merrick, lead a liar." There stood kichard Merrick, lead-ing counsel, in reality for the prosecution, who had said fully as much as Mr. Bliss did, but Ingersoll picked his man. Merrick would have skinned him there and attended to him elsewhere, and he knew it.

INGERSOLL AS A SOLDIER.

This little episode has advertised Ingersoll as a man of pluck, and to-night is being disas a man of pluck, and to-night is being discussed in various circles. Some of the remarks on it are quite amusing. One gentleman, wholwas a union soldier in the war, said:

If the enemy were in reach he was pretty apt to stunible into their hands—a misfortune for them, for it was chenger to whip him than to feed him." Blaine and Ingersoll, as windy warriors, are a noble pair.

led to this result.

The Manchester Guardian says: The crime is traceable to the fenian party, recruited mainly from America, who again interfered when when they saw that conciliation was probable. It says there is a desperate and ma-lignant conspiracy limited to a small number of persons.

A largely attended meeting of the corporation of the city of Dubin was held yesterday, which was presided over by the mayor. A resolution was passed expressing horror at and detestation of the assassinations, declaring that until the perpetrators are brought to justice, Irishmen must feel dishonored. The corporations of Cork, Londonderry, Wexford and Limerick have taken similar action. and Limerick have taken similar action.

THE RESULT OF THE INQUEST.

On the inquest yesterday on the bodies of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke, medical evidence was given to the effect that the victims had apparently been stabbed simultaneously from before and behind with long bowie knifes. The wounds all appeared to have been inflicted with exactly similar weapons.

FORTHCOMING LEGISLATION.

The Daily News prints a rumor which was current in the lobby of the house of commons last evening that the forthcoming Irish protection bill will provide that in certain cases of murder trial by jury will be suspended, and the accused will be tried before three judges, with a right of appeal.

WITHERSES OF THE TRAGEDY.

A telegram to Lord Hartington, which his secretary took to Windsor to-day to communicate to the queen, confirm the details of the reports of the assassination as already pub-lished. It further shows that Lord Frederick fell first, mortally wounded by a stab. Mr. Burke struggled for a time, but fell, stabbed in several places. It is believed his jugular vein was severed. The four men then drove sued to arrest all strangers and tramps who are unable to account for their movement during the last three days.

The report is confirmed that George Otto Trevelyan has been appointed chief secretary for Ireland. The Pall Mall Gazette says that Leonard H. Courtney, member of parliament for Liskeard, will become joint secretary to the treasury to fill the place held by Lord. the treasury to fill the place held by Lord Frederick Cavendish, previous to his appointment as chief secretary for Ireland. Immediately upon Mr. Trevelyan's acceptance of the office, a special policeman was placed or duty before his residence.

MAKING CAPITAL OUT OF BLOOD.

The Times, in a leading article, says: Even f it be true that the murder of Cavendish and Burke was done by American Irish desperadoes, we must not forget that Mr. Parnell has boasted of consolidating an alliance between the Irish in America and those at home. We are unable to accept the plea that the men who have pursued the land leaguers' course are divested of all re-sponsibility for the crime they now denounce." The Times continues to energetically attack the Parnellite members of parliament. It says it is morally imposs ble to enter into any understanding with those who denounce outrage for the first time. When they profess to negotiate in the house f commons for the bloodthirsty element of the Irish people, they are only powerful to excite disaffection. They cannot diminish the malignancy of the whole class who wallow in blood like beasts of prey. All the Dublin papers appear in mourning.

A STATEMENT FROM MR. GLADSTONE.
Mr. Gladstone, in a published statement, innounces that he has received a flood of communications from every part of the kingdom expressive of the horror and indig-nation at the crime. He says that it is only just to state that none are more remarkable for fervor and sincerity than the large number from all parts of Ireland. He wishes to express his sense of the genuine feeling shown by the communications, and his personal

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

In the house of lords this evening, the Marquis of Lansdoune announced that, in consequence of the recent ministerial statement relative to the impending measures for the protection of life and property in Ireland, he desired to withdraw the motion which he had announced against the Irish policy of the government. He said he wished to imsupon the government very earnestly the saity of not yielding to the popular demands without the adoption of compensating measures for strengthening the law.

Over the Matter in Ireland Noted.

Special Dispatch to The Constitution.

London, May 9.—The official and private residences of all the cabinet ministers are now guarded by special constables. The latest information from Earl Spencer shows that there is some evidence indicating the existence of a plot aimed, not only at the Irish government, but also at the head of the liberal party. Hence the above precautions have been taken.

A dissolution Called For.

The St. James Gazette last evening says that a requisition has been made to the lord mayor of London to call a meeting in Guildhall to petition the queen to dissolve parliament on the ground of a belief that many liberals and conservatives desire to elect another parliament to deal more successfully with the reign of murder in Ireland.

NUST CUT LOOSE.

The Times says:4 "Mr. Forster wast he victim of an intrigue, worked from within the cabinet. The cowardly machinations against him and Burke here paralyzed the forces of order. Mr. Gladstone must cut his cabinet loose from such mischievous advisers, whose imbecility, malignity and presumption have led to this result."

THE BOOTY FOUND.

Stolen Goods Found Under a Pulpit in Jackson County From the Jackson Herald. Last week some changes were made in the Last week some changes were made in the arrangement of the pulpit in the Methodist church at this place, and as Mr. Joe Williamson was tearing up the floor of the pulpit he discovered that it was the hiding place for a whole lot of goods that had evidently been concealed there some years ago. The list of articles found was as follows: Ten pairs of ladies shoes, about a dozen pair of suspenders, two bunches of shoe strings, three dozen ladies shoes, about a dozen pair of suspenders, two bunches of shoe strings, three dozen spools of thread, three gross of pins, two or three gross of buttons, two bottles of cologne, four bolts of ribbon, one hood and one girl's hat. The pulpit floor is over eighteen inches from the floor of the church, and a step is used to make the ascent. The step had been removed, and the plank forming the base board of the pulpit had been bored into and a piece taken out, and the goods were shoved through the hole into the empty space underneath the pulpit, the step was then placed back in its former osition, and no trace of the hiding place could be found. Many are the surmises as to out the found. Many are the surmises as to who did the steeling and why it was that the articles were never carried off or used. The general opinion is that the goods were stolen from Mr. F. M. Bailey's store either in the latter part of 1878 or in 1879, as his store was broken open about that time and some articles were missed. Some of the shoes have Mr. Bailey's content of the shoes have Mr. Bailey's cost mark upon them, which is further evi-dence of the fact that the goods were stolen from his store. But as to who did the crime, from his store. But as to who did the crime, or why they have never used the stolen goods, remains a deep mystery that defies solution with the present meager array of facts. Some think that the parties hid them so securely so that they could return and secure the booty at leisure, and have since died and carried their secret with them to the grave, or that they are in the chain-gang. Others think that they have returned for them, but have been scared away. In fact, the circumstances been scared away. In fact, the circumstance warrant any amount of conjecture, being indulged in to the fullest limit.

COLORADO DAIRY RANCHE, Near Covington, May 9.—Having been earnestly requested to give what experience I have had on dairying, will say that a woman, be she rich or poor, who has seven children and attends to them, can have but few leisure moments in which to study, but such time as I have I am willing to devote to giving information that may benefit others. I know there are many young married people of small means but who have pluck and energy and are ambitious to make a rise, but to their anxious eyes no opening appears, only, perhaps, in many cases, hard work on a farm raising cotton, or may be a precarious clerkship for a man in some store, while the wife can sew and knit and cook, and nothing is laid up for a rainy day. $80.

AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

Being convinced that it was a good paying business, we bought this place, which is a short distance from the Georgia railroad depot at Covington. It consists of 48 acres, part upland and badly washed, lying on both sides of Dried Indian creek. There was no fence around it, and but an apology for a house, so during the few months we have been here we have had many expenses, and some discourhave had many expenses, and some discour aging obstacles to overcome. We began with but two cows, and now the corral encloses, at night 11 cows and 2 calves.

We keep no calves but of the best stock, as there is a loss in raising poor stock, besides the trouble they are at milking time. The calves we do keep are taken from the mother calves we do keep are taken from the mother as soon as they are vigorous enough to stand and have their stomach filled with warm milk once, they are put in an isolated place and fed by hand. Experience teaches that calves raised in this way thrive much better, and are more docile and easier managed.

UTILIZING THEMILK.

We find it more profitable to make all the milk into butter and sell the skim and buttermilk feeding the balance to the pics, than fo milk into butter and self the skim and buttermilk, feeding the balance to the pigs, than to peddle the fresh milk, which, besides being troublesome, is a thankless calling. Some of our customers have said that our milk was so rich they had to add water to it to make it digest, others would accuse us of skimming the milk. If it happened that a cow had to be milked before she calved which is frequently imperative—some one would declare that we were mixing that cow's milk with the others and selling it and cow's milk with the others and selling it and would forthwith stop taking any. All this was disagreeable to bear, so we procured all the proper appliances for Making Cheamery Butter, and we could now sell 100 pounds a day if we had it at 50 cents per pound, it being pronounced in Augusta first-class in every respect and superior to Gosben. Some people here say that we produce the beautiful golden color by adding the yelks of eggs. Such a thing I never before heard of in connetion with butter. We add nothing but salt, After washing the butter in brine until it comes clear of milk, it is then put on a "butter" ter washing the butter in brine until it comes clear of milk, it is then put on a "butter worker," and all the brine is thoroughly squeezed out, and then it is packed in glass jars with tops and bands and rubber circles. They are closed as fast as filled and set in the bottom of the creamery to keep cool, until there is a sufficient number to fill a box, when it is shipped immediately. But were we even some distance from a railroad the butter would doubtless keep sweet in the airtight jars for an indefinite time.

COWS AND THEIR TREATMENT.

We have one half breed Jersey cow and the rest are of the common "scrub" that can be rest are of the common "scrub" that can be found all through the country. In dairying one must be methodical and cleanly. Butter and milk are dainty products and readily obsorb any impurity. The cows should have clean, fresh running water, convenient at all times through the day. What they are fed on at milking time should be first-class. Our cows will not eat slops or cooked food, but like what they have in its natural state. We follow the old time rule of salting once. ollow the old time rule of salting once

I am aware that there is many a poor man burdened with debt, with a hopeless mortgage on the old place—his only home, with perhaps a large family, and to him the outlook is gloomy enough. To the perplexed wife and mother especially there seems to be no bright time ahead. All may work hard on the farm, but not much is left in the fall after the provision bill has been paid and the interest on vision bill has been paid and the interest on the debt has been met. I know there are many nice women who, after making what butter the family consumes, have a few pounds every week to spare, which often they cannot sell for more than 15 cents. She might make, with the outlay for fixtures of a few dollars, with the outlay for fixtures of a few dollars, butter that would sell just as readily for 50 to 75 cents, and at the same time make all the children useful from the age of five upward. The business is pleasant as well as remunerative. The children, besides being occupied, will be earning what they wear and eat, and there will be a snug sum besides every month. I have been around in states where dairying is carried on successfully with not half the advantages that Georgia affords. If there be any one who would like to ask any information concerning the business it would be to me a pleasure to give it.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, over-work, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as Brown's Iron Bitters, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1830. Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1830.

For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight.

O. B. SARGENT.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's Iron Bit-TERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

GEORGIA GOSSIP.

AS IT BABBLES UP IN NEW YORK

Marchioness of Anglesey and Her Unms ole Husband—A Rich Tale from the Salons Paris—A Georgia Man Who Governs His Wife by a Set of Written Rules.

From the New York Mail.

Our fashionable society is more interested in what is going on in Europe than in anything in this country saving their own affairs thing in this country saving their own affairs. Consequently, a scandal in England or France creates a flutter of excitement, especially if any person connected with it is an American, and consequently again there has been no end of gossip about the misfortunes of the marchioness of Anglesey. The marchioness was once plain Miss Minnie King, the daughter of J. T. King, of Sandhills, Georgia, and in the days when she was fancy free, she was known by the soubrequet of the Georgia Belle. She was pretty, vivacious, and withal an accomplished talker. From her young girlhood she had a host of admirers, and any number she had a host of admirers, and any number of offers before she was twenty. She became related to the titled aristocracy of England related to the titled aristocracy of England by becoming the wife of Henry Wadehouse, the brother of Lord Kimberly. The Kimberlys are as well known as any family in England. When the celebrated American belle became a widow she was courted again and bestowed her hard the second time on the marquis of Anglesey. This marriage took place less than a year ago. Our noble marquis is a sort of Mormon, as the marchioness is his third wife. His paternal grandfather and his own father set him the bad example by each marrying three times. Our noble by each marrying three times. Our noble marquis must be a sort of a regular old boy marquis must be a sort of a regular old boy.
One day as the marchioness was sitting down to dine with some friends a note was brought into her. It was from her husband. It said briefly that he had left Paris and the Marchionesss for all time.

that he had left Paris and the Marchionesss for all time. Some accounts gave it that Anglesey had an agreeable traveling companion in a Russian woman. This story is additionally interesting just now, as a batch of English nobility arrived by a steamer yesterday, the batch including Lord Randolph Churchill, whose wife is Jennie Jerome, a daughter of Leonard Jerome, of this city. The sad fate of the belle of Georgia will not be taken to heart by American girls. On the contrary they will pull their caps at every nobleman that visits this country this summer. This is one of the reasons, taking a charitable view of it, that our young men here so affect English ways.

HALL HAYNES.

THE MISERIES OF THE RICH. Going Abrond to Get Away from the Skeleton in the Closet.

From the Springfield Republican.

It is said that a large share of those who come abroad ostensibly for the education of their children, or for the restoration of their shattered healths and disorganized constitutions and who he long shares from their snattered heatins and disorganized constitu-tions, and who; by long absence from their native land, virtually give up their birth-rights for foreign homes, have histories that will not bear probing or inquiring into. Many a quarrel between husband and wife in America results not in divorce, but in living apart—usually it is the wife who packs her trunks and crosses the Atlantic for a few years trunks and crosses the Atlantic for a few years, and perhaps for life. Here she begins life anew, she avoids the publicity and disgrace of a divorce, and the scandal which its trial is or a divorce, and the scandar which is trial is sure to divulge; she puts an end to the cat and-dog life she has lived with her husband, and in her foreign home, wherever it may be, she forms a new set of acquaintances among those who are strangers to her past history. I heard of five ladies who recently at an after-noon tea-drinking had a confidential scance over their curs and under the stimulating noon tea-drinking had a confidential seance over their cups, and under the stimulating influence of hyson or bohea unbosomed their troubles to each other. They had all come abroad for an indefinite stay, leaving their husbands behind them. One of them said her husband had suffered an unjust persecution, and was undergoing a cruel imprisonment for a few years for using some bank funds which he intended to have returned, but he found he couldn't. The husband of another had proved himself untrue to his marriage vows by taking to himself an extra wife—yes, two or three of them, report said—without going through the ceremony of marriage. As for living on the same continent with him after that, it was out of the question. The third lady said that her husband, who was very wealthy, had ceremony of marriage. As for living on the same continent with him after that, it was out of the question. The third lady said that her husband, who was very wealthy, had got addicted to drinking, and had gradually become very intemperate, that while under the influence of liquor, which was nearly all the time, he had abused her and treated her like a dog; that she would endure such treatment no longer; and, being afraid of her life, she had put the ocean between them. The fourth lady said she was the wife of one of the best husbands in the world, who from small beginnings had accumulated a large fortune. They had lived in great style and splendor, and had been very happy together; but in an evil hour her husband had been drawn into speculations which had proved ruinous and swept away every dollar in the world. She was then overlooked and cast aside by those who had enjoyed her hospitality and protessed so much love and friendship for her in her prosperity. She could endure anything but such treatment and neglect, and rather than suffer it longer she had left her a sum of money sufficient to live comfortably and economically abroad, while her husband was barely supporting himself and a young son at home on a small salary as clerk in a wholesale house. The fifth, who had listened with much amusement to the foregoing disclosures, said with much feeling and emphasis that although she had left her husband in America, she thanked God that she had left him in the church yard, sleeping his last sleep, and that she had a perfectly happy married life to look back upon. No family quarrels or domestic infelicities had sent her across the Atlantic, but she was here to realize a dream of her childhood in visiting the wonderful picture galleries, churches, palaces, etc., with which Europe abounds.

THE AUTOCRAT OF THE FAMILY.

Rules a St. Louis Man begaired His Wife to Swear to Observe.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat prints the The St. Louis Globe-Democrat prints the long complaint in the suit of Mrs. Alice Davenport for a divorce from her husband, Benjamin R. Davenport, of that city. The parties are natives of Georgia, but were married in New York September 24, 1878. The wife asserts that two weeks after their marriage her husband, without cause, began to treat her with suspicion and mistrust, and to assume toward her a cruel and tyrannical attitude, declaring that she should subject herself in all things, even to the most minute and trivial affairs, entirely to his arbitrary dictation, direction and command; that he forbade her ever speaking to any gentlemen, and that, she being ill, he refused her permission to go to her mother in Savannah, Ga., and finally only consented to her meeting her mother in New York after she had taken an oath faithfully to observe certain rules an oath faithfully to observe certain rules which, a gross indignity to herself, he had written out as follows:

Written out as follows:

Rules for the government of my wife's conduct while away from me. June 1, 1879:

1. Not to speak to any person or allow any person to speak to her on the car, except the conductor and porter in the discharge of their duty.

2 Go directly from depot in New York to Mrs. Haight's house, and occupy room with mother, and sleep only in her room.

3. Speak kindly and politely to Mrs. Haight, but not in a friendly or familiar manner; say to her you do not wish to meet any one in the house; ask for a table to yourself, with only your family, or go somewhere else.

4. Never sing in the parlor or sit in the parlor, or somewhere else.

4. Never sing in the parlor or sit in the parlor, or sing in your room when any person except your immediate family be present.

5. Never leave mother day or night for five minutes at a time for any reason whatsoever. Do not walk, ride or go anywhere without her, even with your own brother.

7. Do not call on any person whatsoever, and allow no one who may call on you to see you, un-less they be your brothers er their wives. Do not speak to any person you may meet whom you may have known in the past.

7. Do not permit yournelf to be introduced to any person whatsoever, and if you are refuse to speak to them.

7. Do not permit yourself to be introduced to any person whatsoever, and if you are refuse to speak to them.

8. Write every night to me a full, truthful and exact account of everything you have done, where you have been, with whom you have been, to whom you have spoken, and whom you have seen. This must be done every night.

Let nothing, sickness or death, prevent your keeping these rules, for I will excuse no breach on any account. Do not leave New York, even for an hour, without my permission, except Brooklyn or Harlem.

lem.

If my wife cannot keep these rules in word and in spirit, I desire never to see her again.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 10, 1882.

THE signal service bureau report indicates for Georgia to-day, fair weather, winds mostly southerly, stationary or lower temperature and pressure.

ALL Georgians will regret to learn of the accident which befell Mr. Stephens yesterlay, by which he will necessarily be confined to his room for some time.

THE latest development in the Rountree tragedy but adds to the sadness of the affair. It now seems probable that the fatal bullet was fired by the dead student's brother, who, missing aim, was the unintentional cause o the deed.

UNDER the pulpit was chosen by some Jackson county thieves as a receptacle for stolen goods. They doubtless thought that contact with virtue would brush off some of the sin; at least they grew conscientious enough never to return for the booty.

Scoville discovers that in addition to a cranky brother-in-law he has an equally cranky wife. The antics of the family to make the most of their disgrace would be amusing were it not for the terrible tragedy by which they came into notice.

Rome did a very sensible thing in refusing to quarantine against Atlanta. The smallpox in Atlanta is confined to the very small est compass and a smaller class. In nearly two month's run less than ten white people have had the disease, and those were unvac cinated.

THE coalition between Mahone and Came ron to develop several important North Caro lina interests, is one which can be watched with more pleasure than the same coalition in the senate. The work outlined is immense in its character, and must add largely to the interests of the state.

THE tariff commission bill, after a debate in the house that was well-nigh interminable. has now received the concurrence of the senate to the house amendments, and is at last before the president, who will find time to sign it in the interval between calls from the members of the Georgia syndicate.

ATLANTA will rejoice in the promotion of her young officer, Lieutenant Hoyle, whose merits have won for him the adjutancy of the military academy. From receiving a captain's pay his friends look for him soon to wear a captain's epaulettes, which could not be placed upon worthier shoulders.

On Monday Atlanta adds to her lines of road the Georgia Pacific, which on that day will begin the running of a regular schedule to Douglasville. But few realize the actual importance of the work that has been going on during the past few months, which is about to result in the completion of two new railroads to our system.

MRS. MARY CAMP tells in another column ities: how a little skill can make wealth where before poverty existed; and the capacity of Georgia in the hands of the intelligent producer. Just think of making $80 a month out of nine cows, clear of all expense. How many cotton planters can beat this?

THE Mississippi plan, as illustrated by the commercial transactions of Green, a Columbus cotton broker, with the Fall River mills fully equals the capacity of even Boston to deal with financial intricacies. Green has gone abroad to see his friends. His movements will be necessarily quiet, notwithstand. ing the anxiety of his New England friends

THE proceedings in the Methodist general conference in behalf of the better education of the colored people cannot fail of beneficial results. The body represented by the conference is one of such numbers and controlling influence in the southern states as to make its proceedings of interest to those out of its communion. And a better work could not engage its attention than the educational advancement of the black race.

THAT Mr. Atkins has been consuming the midnight oil in the effort to master the intricacies of Blackstone and Kent, ever since the late Mr. Garfield good-humoredly told him he might yet become a judge, is one of the secrets which gives so much backbone to the Georgia syndicate. It has been noticed of late that the gentleman wore the air of a man whose mind was in the musty volume and whose name was in the federal fleshpot.

THE ferocity of the London Times in trying to fasten upon the Irish parliamentary leaders the responsibility for the dreadful event of Saturday, evinces a mercenary disposition to make political capital out of blood. The statement of Mr. Gladstone, however, that the expressions of horror at the deed in Ireland are as fervid and sincere in Ireland as in any other part of the empire, is a sufficient answer to the assertions of the Times. The answer, too, coming from the man who has most to lose, politically, by making it, redounds to Mr. Gladstone's credit for courage and integrity.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The reports read at the annual meeting of affairs are in a healthy condition. During under the library will hereafter meet both interest and principal of the debt, together with the repairs and insurance of the entire building. The library is therefore comfortably and economically housed. It has no monthly rent-bills to meet; it is its own landlord.

The gains in membership, in books and in circulation are not great, but they all indicate a healthful growth. The truth is, the effervescence of youthful effort is disappearing. The association has settled down to its legitimate work, which it proposes to do in a quiet and effective manner. True, it has more empty shelves than are de sirable, but by doing its work well it will be apt to lead some of our wealthy citizens to osen their purse-strings for the good of their fellow men. Money will certainly come in good time, and that, too, without begging or undue effort. We cannot wish the library better success than it has enjoyed during the past year. It was not a year of brilliant effort on the part of the managers, but of hones use of its resources and capabilities, and that is just about what the association needs as it becomes older and better established.

THE PEST TO BE STAMPED OUT. The small-pox is simply lingering in the city. It is not, and in all probability would not become epidemic: but in certain localities it straggles along, and the city council did wisely in adopting an ordinance that will, if enforced with vigor and skill, drive the disease from the city.

Immediate and effective vaccination is the thing relied on to the work. This is the ruling idea in the new ordinance, and to carry it into full and immediate effect, the co-operation of every citizen is needed. Free vaccination offices are to be kept open in every ward, and every citizen should consider himself or herself an executive committee of one to see that no one goes unprotected by vaccination. Without a general effort of this kind hundreds of the poor and ignorant will remain as food for the scourge to feed upon. No householder should rest until every person on his lot is vaccinated; no employer can afford to retain a person who endangers the rest of his help and his entire business; no teacher should teach an unvaccinated child, no preacher should harbor in his congregation a person who keeps himself in a condition to bring sorrow and suffering upon the country. Men women and children should be argued into vaccination, and if any one is obstinate let the offender against the public health and public good receive at once the harshest provisions of the new ordi-

We hope the board of health will not rest apon the penal parts of the ordinance so far as suspected localities are concerned. Take for example the Campbell buildings on Butler street. Vaccination should be compulsory and immediate in that lot of cheap and crowded cabins. The ordinance is ample if its execution is fearless and searching. To on the frozen fields—huge cracks would form reach the last ten thousand of our people will and run hither and you like strokes require a careful study of the situation, and of lightning. Rocking in this such an application of energy as is rarely cradle. brought to bear in public affairs. The case however, demands it, and we appeal to the the clink and tinkle of the ice pressing harder, board of health to go to work at once. The disease has now only a weak foothold, and twenty days of untiring and skillful application of the new ordinance will surely drive it out of the city. Every good citizen should give a part of to-day and to-morrow to the hunting up of unvaccinated people in his neighborhood, and the city authorities should work as they have never worked before. The people expect as much, and no one who expects the favor of his neighbors will be found wanting in this emergency The task before us is to make the entire population of the city proof against the loathsome disease, and there is no reason in the world why the remnant of the task cannot be ac-

omplished in the course of the next ten days

HARMONY IN GEORGIA There seems to be an idea among some o our friends abroad that there is a troublesome division in the ranks of the democratic par ty in Georgia. This is a mistake There is no lack of harmony among the people so far as we can perceive; certainly there is no lack of harmony in the democrat ic party. There have been during the past year or two minor divisions in the democratic party appertaining to certain methods of organization in regard to which there was large room for differences of opinion. But to-day, in the presence of the new danger threatened by the efforts of a stalwar republican administration to defeat and destroy the democratic party in Georgia, these minor differences have been compounded. That the efforts of this stalwart republican administration are serious, insidious and sinister no one need be told: nor need any one be told that the efforts and purposes of this administration are thoroughly represented by the affair known as the coalition. The simple solution of the whole matter is that the coalition has for its purpose the defeat of the democratic party, and the elevation to power of chaotic affair even more distinctively republican than the organization, which, under the lead of Mahone, has disgraced and humiliated Virginia.

The coalition is, in all essential particulars, an active and a sympathetic copartnership between those who have heretofore called themselves independents, and those who are interested in furthering the schemes of an administration devoted to the perpetuation of the vilest forms of republicanism. There was a caucus in the Markham house between these independents so-called and these republican leaders. There the programme was outlined-there the coalition was made. Following this, there was a declaration of principles, and something like an attempt to arouse the people to the necessity of joining the new departure.

Now, if this attempt to drum up a new party had been successful, then there would be a lack of harmony in the state; but, so far as we have observed-and we have been interested in watching affairs somewhat closely -there has not been the slightest response the Young Men's Library association last from the people. On the contrary, those who night show that the institution has been well | were boasting of their independentism a few conducted during the past year, and that its months ago, and who declared themselves ready to bolt any nomination that didn't suit President Smith's term the floating indebted- them to the turn of a hair, are again acting ness has very nearly been paid off. Only two with the democrats. They say that they have claims remain to be settled, and then the as-tion of the terms of the loan of money made This is the situation in this state to-day. by Governor Brown the income of the stores There is not only no lack of harmony, but there has never been greater harmony since the days when the democratic party wrested Georgia from the control of those who were plundering the tax-payers and outraging all forms of law and justice.

To-day, every element of the democratic party is in perfect accord in opposition to the purposes of the coalition. Nobody is deceived by the claim that the affair musters under the banner of independentism. The confessions of Colonel Farrow, the attitude of the administration, the course of events, all go to show that the end and aim of the new movement i the destruction of the democratic party. But the people are united and the press is united, and they will remain united until the coalition is swept out of our politics.

HUMBUG SCIENCE AND ITS VICTIMS.

Certain pseudo-scientists, emboldened by the needs of map-makers and the demands of the compilers of our school geographies, have declared to the world the necessity of discovering the north pole. There is not a schoolboy of reasonable intelligence who does not know that, if the point where the pole is supposed to have its abiding-place were sailed over a thousand times a year, the world would gain no information that is necessary for the world to gain. There is not a school boy who does not know that if the existence of the open polar sea were demonstrated, the perils of its passage would still be too great to benefit the world; that, though the polar sea might be open, it is forever closed to commerce.

But the pole is a mystery. It is not a mys tery, to-be-sure, to the pseudo-scientists, who care for it only as it will supply padding for senseless lectures and worthless magazine articles, but it is a mystery to certain enterprising spirits who care infinitely less for science than for adventure and the fame that is the possible fruit thereof.

What the pseudo-scientists may happen to know or not to know is a matter of indifference to the world at large, but it is safe to assume that the barren ice-fields that enclose the pole contain no secrets calculated to advance the interests of civilization. The mystery, however, is attractive to many gallant men who long for excitement and whose restlessness is never satisfied unless they are confronting danger of some sort. This is why men can be found to lead these desperately planned expeditions to the frozen regions. This is how Mr. Bennett, in his remarkable cheme for advertising the New York Herald found accomplished men ready and anxious to steer towards the North Star. They got up steam, heisted sail, and went gayly forth.

The frozen seas closed in upon them, the ice floes gathered round about, and the busy fingers of the frost-king builded for their ship a cradle. Here for weeks and months the Jeannette rode with the ice, the gallant men making the most of their situation. The ice piled higher and higher, forming hammocks the Jeannette drifted day and drifted by night. By day they heard pressing closer; by night the vague flames of the Aurora flared up rosier than the dawn, and lit them to restless dreams or uneasy waking; but all through the long day and the longer night there was the hope that beats in the breasts of all brave men. But hope could not melt the ice. Closing in upon the doomed vessel, it crushed her sides and the hold began to fill with water. The officers and the crew thereupon took to the ice, and in a few hours afterwards the Jeannette had disappeared. Then come the struggle to reach the land. Over the ice, dragging their boats, through the seas, rowing and steering, these bold mariners made their the Russian coast. way to One reached the land and its were succored. The boat of the commander also reached land, but its occupants for days and weeks wandered aimlessly over the bleak, barren regions in a vain search for relief. Relief was hastening to them, and it finally found them, but it came too late. And now word comes that in the midst of the great snow desert of the north, DeLong and his companions were found lying cold, and stiff, and stark, and dead.

All honor to the pseudo-scientists who get up their little clamors and flourish in the midst of idiotic theories. Following their directions a vessel will one day sail over the spot indicated on the charts as the north pole. Some hardy mariner will find seas of ice, or fields of water, but further than this nothing of interest to science. And when the north pole is sailed over and explored, what else will there be to discover? In advance of that event, it is the duty of all enterprising news papers to endeavor to prevent the stagnation n pseudo-scientific circles which must follow the discovery of the north pole. We cheer fully contribute a suggestion.

Should the discoverer of the pole b thoughtful enough to look overhead at any hour of the night subsequent to his arduous performance in the interest of those who owe their scientific attainments to their lack of observation and experience, he will discover a star shining faintly. This will be the north star, a point of light that has attracted considerable attention first and last. Being nearer the north star than any person has ever been before, why will it not be possible for the discoverer of the pole to organize an excursion to the pole-star? It is supposed to be beyond the remotest confines of our universe, but what do our scientific humbugs care for that? The fact remains that the discoverer of the pole will do a good day's work if he shall also discover that the pole-star is the central sun, around which all systems roll.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Stephens's Candidhey.

It does look as if little Alex. was going to shouller his skillet and walk right into the gubernatorial chair—that is if he don't attempt to "tote" the coalitionists.

Macon Telegraph.

While he has been treated with the kindness and respect due his character and position, the conclusion is almost solid that he cannot hope for the support of the Georgia democracy, save as the regularly selected candidate of that organization. Any attempt upon his part te stand for governor in any other way, is certain to crystalize and precipitate all of the dangers and troubles to which his private correspondents allude.

Rome Courier.

It really seems to us that these declarations ought to satisfy democrats that there is nothing in Mr Stephens's politics or his party associations that should prevent them from nominating and supporting him for governor. Of course, if they have personal objections to him or personal preferences for another, that is another matter. We only speak of the relations of Mr. Stephens toward the democratic party and of the consistency of his nomination as its candidate. The Constitutions, we are

Mr. Stephens ought to ee on one side or the other, and in making his choice it is all-important that he should select the right side. The people of Georgia honor and love Mr. Stephens; but they honor and love principle more. They will not follow a man, however great or good he may be, if, by so doing, they must abandon their principles. An Incident of the Cramer Trial.

An Incident of the Cramer Trial.

From the mother's testimony:

Mrs. Cramer went over again the circumstances of her final interview with her daughter. It was on Thursday when Miss Douglas came home with her. In an impressive manner, Judge Blydenburgh put the next question.

"Mrs. Cramer, do you remember the last words you ever spoke to Jenuie?"

"They were these." The woman sighed deeply, dropped her eyes, and said slowly. "Jenuie, when your sister comes home I think it is best for you to find another place for you."

This was not said without its sensational effect. It showed that Jennie fied from the house, believing that she was disgraced in her mother's eyes, and that her roof was no longer to shelter her. In supporting the suicide theory of the defense, these last words are of significance. After uttering them to the girl, Mrs. Cramer turned away and went in gearch of her husband

To a land of shadow and silent peace,
Where women can love and men can pity,
And tears from sorrowing eyes may cease?
For the toiling town is harsh and hollow,
And hate points enstward, envy west:
Though many may fall, and yet some will follow
To a home of dreams and the heaven rest.
For the love of heaven, stretch forth your hand,
And point the way to Bohemia's land.

Where are the fields and their emerald cover,
The wayside flowers and travelling cart,
The new-found love and the long tried lover?
They are better by far than our feverish art.
We are sick unto death of jealousy's fetter,
The secret dagger, the ceaseless strife;
There's triumph in fame, but freedom's better;
So give us a taste of a wandering life.
So give us a ciscle as fancy's hand
Paints endless love in Bohemia's land.

Bohemia's ways are strewn with flowers,
Her children free from the revel of wine;
Her dust is staked by the sweetened showers,
'Neath covering trees they toast and dine.
When care creeds close, why away they wander
To seek whatever the mind loves best;
For hope endures when the heart sees yonder
A purer life and a surer rest. for hope endures when the heart sees yonder
A purer life and a surer rest.
How many despise, but how few withstand,
The ceaseless joys of Bohemia's land.

To the fields away! for Nature presses
On tolling foreheads a balmy kiss;
There's nothing so sweet as her wild caresses,
No love more full to the lips than this.
God gant, my brothers, when all is over,
And holiday hours cut short by fate,
That the sense of flowers and seent of clover
May soften sorrow and silence hate.
Old Time soon measures the fatal sand,
And the curtain falls on Bohemia's land.

The library now contains 9.387 volumes—a gain of 518 during the year. Two hundred and seven of the accessious were by purchase and 311 by donation. Last year the association bought 234 volumes and received as gifts 106.

The circulation of the past year was 15,529 volumes, against 14,279 in the previous year. Besides the books withdrawn for use the members have had the use of 70 periodicals—14 dailies, 30 weeklies, 9 monthlies, 4 quarterlies and 13 unclassed. The usefullness of the library is steadily increasing, each month bringing within its influence people who have come in one way or another to appreciate the advantages it offers.

These figures show that the dues received from active members very nearly meet the current expenses of the library. The report of the finance committee was next read and showed the receipts for the year, including $21.35 brought over from the previous year, to be $5,289.32, and the disbursements $4,969.08, leaving a balance of $1,220,24 in the treasury Mr. Joseph Thompson was chairman of the committee.

Following the report by Mr. Calhoun was the usual address by the president of the association, Mr. Hoke Smith. Mr. Smith's address was as follows::

To the Members of the Young Men's Library Association of Atlanta: At each annual meeting the president is required to report to the members of the association the work of the past year.

At the last election of officers by the members, Mr.

president is required to report to the members of the association the work of the past year.

DIFFICULTIES OF THE YEAR.

At the last election of officers by the members, Mr.
Louis Gholstin was made president and Mr. R. J.
Lowry vice-president. The long and fathful service of Mr. Gholstin as a director, the wide-spread influence in the community of Mr. Lowry, as well as the acknowledged financial capacity of each, rendered either of them peculiarly well fitted to perform the duties of president, but other engagements—perhaps those since happly consummated—led Mr. Gholstin to resign; the heavy work already upon him as chairman of the finance committee of the city, added to other public services in which he was engaged, prevented Mr. Lowry from assuming the duties of the office then left vacant. Mr. Chas. E. Harman, our former most competent librarian, beloved by all, found it necessary to quit us, and the board of directors were compelled to elect a president, vice-president and librarian in the midst of the term.

The election heid upon the question of selling the board of directors were compelled to elect a president, vice-president and librarian in the midst of the term.

The election held upon the question of selling the building produced discord among the members. Besides the bonded debt, the interest for 6 months on which had not been paid, there was, at the first of the year, an outstanding floating debt of $1,209.02, and the treasury was overdrawn $214.09. These were some of the difficulties which the directors were called upon to meet.

FAILURE TO SELL BUILDING.

You have probably heard that two votes were taken before the question of selling the library building was finally decided. At the flist election the members voted by a small majority in favor of a sale. Then the directors concluded it was best not to sell, and resubmitted the question to the members. The action of the board was much criticised. I believe the board did right. I know that they acted with the view solely of advancing the interests of the association.

letsed. I believe the board during. I how that they acted with the view solely of advancing the interests of the association.

Before the first vote the board had urged, among other things, the necessity of a sale on account of our financial condition. The floating debt before mentioned, was upon us. The stores could only be rented for $1,500, $450.00 of interest were past due in our bonds, and $900.00 of interest were past due in our bonds, and $900.00 of interest on the bonds accrued yearly, which we were compelled under the term of the trust deed, securing the bonds, to meet out of our current resources. After a vote in favor of a sale, we were offered $700.00 per year for the stores, and ex-Governor Brown, who held our bonds, in reply to a communication upon that subject, answered as follows: "I will consent that the Interest on the $15,000 of six per cent bonds I hold against the library building and lot shall be first paid each year out of the rental of the building, or the portion not occupied by it for library purposes, he balance of the rental each year to be applied in the reduction of the principal, the lein to hold good upon the property till the whole amount of principal and interest is paid. As I understand, the stores can be rented at from $1,500 to $1,800 per annum, this will excinguish the debt as fast as I, as a creditor, am anxious to have it done."

In the meantime, also, the rapid increase in the value of real estate and expense of building which took place last summer, came upon us, adding thereby largely to the cost of obtaining a new home for the library.

Notice the great change in our financial condition. If we acted upon the consent of Governor Brown, it became binding as a contract, and the time for the payment of our bonds were extended indefinitely until the rental from the store could pay them, and our bonded debt could no longer cause trouble. Not only was this true, but our current resources were relieved from paying the past during interest, and the future accruing interest. There were directors who felt anxious to sell, but, after the first vote, it was clear that the association would gain more by accepting the increased rent, and by providing for the extension of our bonds, and easy payment of principal and interest, than by selling and entering an excited market for the purpose of buying a new site upon which to creet a library hall, at a time when it was almost impossible to let contracts.

We have received, during the past year, $1,1650 rent for the stores. We have paid $1,350 interest on bonds, and $10 500 on past due interest. After deducting insurance on the building and other expenses incident to the building, the rent lacked $85,50 for being sufficient to pay off the $1,586,50, but the difference was made up out of current receipts. by a warrant upon the treasury. That portion of the expenditure which was used in repairing the building is properly chargeable to Mr. Broadhead, for the repairs were rendered necessary by the defects in the construction of the building. Mr. Broomhead has been engaged remedying other defects. We owe him for constructing an elevator which was required when the stores were rented, and a settlement will show that the two accounts about offset each other. The consent of ex-Governor Brown, acted upon by the board, has become a part of the contract of our indebtedness. It has left us with the right to pay the interest out of our rents, and to pay the bonds only as fast as the balance of the rents will meet them if we desire to do so. The payment of the bonded debt can no longer be a cause of uneasiness to our members.

At the commencement of the present library year the association owed a heavy floating debt, consist-

In making this estimate I do not take into consideration the dues unpaid from active members which will amount to over $1,600. On the 4th of October the drawer in which the librarian kept the collection was broken open and $132$ stolen from it. The circumsances pointed conclusively to a negro boy who had been employed around the building as being the guilty party. Mr. Billups had charge of the money, and, as we believed him legally responsible for the loss, he paid the amount into the treasury. We did not think that we had the power to relieve Mr. Billups from the payment of this money, but the members of the association undoubtedly have, and at the last meeting of the directors I was instructed by the board to report to the annual meeting of the members of the association a recommendation that the money be returned to Mr. Billups. He has made you a most efficient librarian, it is very hard for him to lose the amount, and while he may be listle in point of law, you can well afford to act with leniency toward so faithful an officer.

The Cases Developed Yesterday and the Deaths at the Hospital.

There were two cases of small-rox developed yesterday. Mary Churchman was sent out from Campbell's block and a white man who came in on the A'estern and Atlantic train at 1 o'clock was found to have the disease and was also sent to the hospital. He was on his way from Nashville to Columbia, S. C. Officer Porter found him in the gentlemen's saloon sick. He had him examined, and his disease was pronounced small-rox and he was sent to the hospital.

Sam Martin and Os. Thomas died yesterday. Their's were the only deaths reported.

The board of health arranged for five vaccination offices yesterday, which will be opened in the five wards at ten o'clock this morning. They are as follows: First ward, at the engine house west Fair street, near Peters, under charge of Dr. Dyar. Second ward, at city hall, under charge of Dr. Dyar. Second ward, at city hall, under charge of Dr. Johnson. Fourth ward, at Tillman's store on Frazier-between Clark and Fulton, under charge of Dr. Johnson. Fourth ward, at Tillman's church, on Fort, Dr F H Peck in charge. Fifth ward, at the engine house on Foundry street, near Marietta, Dr E J Peck in charge. "In what respect?"

"In this. The people who are vaccinated now are the better class of people, both whites and blacks. It is these very classes that are not exposed to the disease. The unvaccinated class, that is the vagrant negroes and poorest class of whites are of the very class that needs vaccinated and with the state of the unvaccinated at the state of the very class that needs vaccinated as a state of the very class that needs vaccinated as taking the disease. There is no danger of its spread among the intelligent white classes. They are already so thoroughly vaccinated as to be profected. For example, of last twenty two cases developed, only two were white. This shows that the white people and the better class of negroes are horoughly protected, and that the disease cannot become epidemic. The trottole is, however, that these cliques and nests of unvaccinated people will carry the disease through by thorough vaccination. Say that there are 5,000 will naturally be exposed to small-pox more than the arrived over the floor. Nothing of value belonging the summer in isolated spots and give us trouble in attending the exposed to small-pox more than the entire 45,000 people that are vaccinated, and they may thus muss the disease by passing it from one to the other and keep it alive in our midst for months even while its confined to the few plagues spots and to a very small number of our citizens, and while the bulk of our people are thoroughly protected against it."

"It would recommend that the vaccinating officers of the city appoint vaccine stails in every ward in the city—at different points for different days—and while the bulk of ou area, especially when there is such a rush that they frequently wait a whole day and are then turned off. I saw a woman that took three children to the office, waited all day and finally came off without being vaccinated saying that she would never go back again. By letting the officers go into such neighborhoods day after day we could by the end of two weeks have every person in the city. borhoods day after day we could by the end of two weeks have every person in the city vaccinated, and thus thoroughly, effectually and promptly stop the disease. One of the health officers, when a case is announced, should at once investigate the persons who have been exposed and vaccinate them immediately if they are not already vaccinated. This will save them from all trouble. It takes vaccination only eight days to develop, while it takes snall-pox fourteen. If you are exposed to-day to a case and were to take it I could vaccinate you to-morrow and thoroughly protect you against the disease, as your system would be safe five cays before the small-poison could work."

The Presbyterian General Assembly.

Official notice has been given for weeks past in seven religious Presbyterian papers published in the south and in the New York Observer, that the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States will meet in Atlanta, Ga., on the third Thursday (18th day) of May, 1882, at 11 o'clock a.m. The opening sermon by the moderator of the local assembly.

In view of the existence of small-pox in the city, a meeting was held on Monday, 8th instant, in the counting-room of Moore & Marsh to consider the expediency of requesting the moderator to postpone the meeting of the assembly. There were present three city pastors and about eighteen to twenty officers of Presbyterian churches. I was selected as chairman of the meeting, While I did not favor a postponement, yet a decided majority voted to send a telegram to Rev. R. P. Farris, D. D., moderator, residing in St. Louis, in these words, following a statement touching the recent developments of small-pox, chiefly among the negroes, and the hazard of sojourning here by persons unprotected by vaccination: "Can you not postpone the meeting of the general assembly to July?"

A reply was received to-day from Dr. Farris decitining to make a change. It runs thus: "To late to postpone. The assembly will meet and adjourn, if necessary."

This setties the question. The body will convene according to appointment on Thursday, 18th inst, in the First church, when the opening sermon will resolutions with the suggestion that they be engrossed on a special page of the minutes and published.

The association then took up the consideration of the suggestions made in the several reports of the committees and by the president in his address.

The association then took up the consideration of the suggestions made in the several reports of the committees and by the president in his address.

The suggestions made in the several made good by the librarian, Mr. Billups, be returned to the amount stolen from the eash drawer and made good by the librarian, Mr. Billups, be returned to the suggestion of the library committee that the Kidd fund be expended in the purchase of books a very spirited discussion arose. Mr. Brown favored putting the money into a six per cent Atlanta bond and using the income for the purchase of books. Other gentlemen opposed him, and finally, on motion of Mr. Henry Hillyer, it was determined to spend the entire amount for books now.

Mr. Brown presented two amendments to the constitution, one abolishing the initiation fee of two dilars. The amendment was adopted without discussion. The other amendment was to so change the constitution as to give the lady members the right to vote. After a short discussion the amendment was adopted by a vote of 30 for and 3 against it. The nomination of officers was the next order of business. The following nominations were made:

Wice President—Marshall J Clarke.

Vice President—Marshall J Clarke.

WHAT DR. ALEXANDER SAYS.

Monday a Constitution man met Dr. Alexander and asked him:

"Is not the city being vaccinated very rapidly?"

"Yes," he replied, "Walter Taylor sold on Friday and Saturday 2,100 vaccine quills and could have sold 1,500 more to day if he had had them. I suppose that other druggists in the city sold 5,000 on Friday and Saturday and saturday and saturday and severy one of these were used before midday Sunday, I have needed 100 points for to day and will get them in the morning. The vaccination is, therefore, proceeding rapidly, but the trouble is it don't reach the points where it is most needed."

ATLANTA, GA., March 18, 1882. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.:

Gents: I have suffered from Scrofula for about 17 years. The disease being mostly confined to my legs and ankles, my shin bones were covered with LARGE ULCERS AND ONE MASS OF ROTTEN FLESH, AND THE ODOR ALMOST UNBEARABLE. All remedies and treatments which I tried failed to do me any good. When at last I began taking S. S. S., continuing for about four months, I AM CERTAINLY WELL. I took S. S. S. under the supervision of a physician of 26 years active practice, by your order. Previously to taking S. S. S. I at times could scarcely walk about. NOW I CAN WALK ALL DAY, AND I HAVE TO THANK S. S. S. AND IT ONLY FOR MY CURE.

Yours truly,

SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY-I feel it a duty I owe to you and suffering humanity to add my testimony to the merits of S. S. S. and cheerfully certify to the following facts and would that all who are suffering from that MOST LOATHSOME DISEASE could know what it has accomplished for me: After suffering from Syphilis for more than a year being treated by several eminent physicians, who all used the usual remedies of the profession-MERCURY, IODIDE OF POT-ASH, with no perceptible change for the better-confined to my ROOM and bed the greater part of the time-my body covered with copper-colored sores from the size of a pea to that of a silver half dollar-the disease reached what is known as the secondary stage, leaving me well nigh in despair. Finally, I commenced taking S. S. S. under the advice and supervision of a first-class physician. In a short time I began to iraprove in flesh and all the sores healed and I could feel and know that I was well and to S. S. S. must the credit be given of myentire restoration to health. I have not taken ose for more than six months and am as free rom sores or blemish as any one and feel that I have a new lease on life. Respectfully, LOTTIE ROSS.

The above cases were treated under the supervision of one of our best physicians. If any who are interested will call at LAMAR. RANKIN & LAMAR'S they can learn full particulars.

Colonel Mark Johnston, of West End, has returned from a winter trip to Florida. His numerous friends in the state will be pleased to hear that he is much improved in health. He weighs twenty pounds more than he did when he left us in December. Colonel John ston reports the crops along the line of rail-road in a splendid condition. He says he was really proud of old Georgia when he saw how the farmers of lower Georgia had brought it the farmers of lower Georgia had brought it out by sowing large fields in small grain. The bat crop, he says, cannot be better, and the corn growing finely with good stands. The cotton is small, and not as good in appearance as other crops. Colonel Johnston spent a good portion of his time with Dr. John G. Westmoreland, in Florida, and is enthusiastic in his project of the Dr's energy. He says in his praise of the Dr.'s energy. He says Dr. Westmoreland is the only man he ever saw whip a steam saw mill in a fair fight. The Dr. tackled one while in Florida, and, although very feeble, he got the best of it, and he says this is the first instance on record. The Special Election. The special election.

The special election ordered by the city council to fill the vacancy in the first ward caused by the death of Dr. W. D. Mitchell, will take place to-morrow. D. H. Dougherty Laces, handkerchiefs, neckwear, gloves and hosiery. If you see these goods you will buy, for they are the newest things out this season. And as to the prices, you know how they are yourself.

. H. DOUGHERTY My goods are fine, but prices low. Now, don't buy of others and pay them more and think the goods finer because the price is higher, for I tell you that the price does not always govern the quality.

D. H. DOUGHERTY My goods and prices tell the whole story. You may buy ten dollars' worth of goods from any house in Atlanta, and then call Bunting 15c. This is the biggest house in Atlanta, and then call burning 15c. This is the biggest on me and I will convince you bargain in Black Bunting ever bargain in Black Bunting ever and I will convince you bargain the State Don't fail to A SPECIALTY. that you can save one dollar by offered in the State.
